Instead of knock, knock "who" y doesn't come one start a game about boost, boost?

Monday's Labor Day. As far as growers in this section are concerned every day will be labor day between now and the middle of June.

Lake region news contests came to a close the first of this month.
If you didn't land a big one this season maybe you will next summer.

The referee's whistle soon will be heard on many gridiron throughout the country. A well sound from radio to the fans gathered around the loud speaker.

Bigger and better than ever That is the way an exchange helps the coming season's crop will turn out. We don't care about it being so much bigger if the prices will just be better.

Two weeks from Monday and the school bell will ring inaugurating another term. Boys and girls have enjoyed a longer vacation, in all probability will welcome the familiar sound.

More packing houses are to be built in the Lake region. The more packing houses there are the more payrolls there will be created. Payroll pep up business in any community. Therefore, we say welcome to the packing houses.

Daily papers yesterday carried a story about Jesse Owens, negro Olympic champion, planning a beheading tour in behalf of Gov.
A. Landon of Kansas. Naturally he is not planning to make speaking in Florida, or Palm Beach county.

Pahokee Blue Devils will go away Monday for a ten day training period before the start of the coming fall football schedule.
The team will be lighter this year than last but they will have that same fighting spirit if the coach has his way.

With another busy season just a few weeks ahead it might be a good idea for truck and automobile owners to think seriously about safety in driving during the season. A car without good brakes or with only one light is a death trap on Glades roads during any season, especially so during a busy farming season.

Glades growers are scratching their heads and wondering what to do not to plant very many acres of beans right now. Some think it wise to wait a few weeks in the event we are due some heavy rains. Others are casting calculations on the winds and predicting any way. Those who are successful in making an early crop will profit, maybe.

A special sales day will be held in Fort Myers on Saturday, September 12. In a sporting proposition the Fort Myers News-Press excellent daily publication of that city, promises to give all advertising space gratis that day. If there is rainfall of two-tenths of an inch or more. We would like to feed into the advertising department of the News-Press if a heavy cloud should float over the city between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. according to a forecast by the tablets.

Pahokee's new $100,000 water plant, since its installation 17 months ago, has gained a total of 214 customers, according to a statement made yesterday by Plant Superintendent, Robert S.
Dunham. The State Board of Health regularly sends back to the plant an check on the bacterial content of the water. Within a few months a new plant will be put in operation in Belle Glade and the landmark of a shortage of pure water in this progressive town will be removed. Both plants have been built as a result of federal assistance.

Lovers of fishing need no encouragement to "drop everything" and go fishing. Here on the Florida coast where there is almost the world over, near the sea and far from the sea, nature provided some kind of a fish boat for man's food and his enjoyment in matching wits with these creatures of lakes and streams and oceans.

Boys and girls are not matu-rally lazy unless made to do those things that men and women are supposed to do. Give a child employment of the kind it craves which usually can be satisfied rather inexpensively by the boy and his tools and things with which to work, and the mistakes will be imminent ones. Palm Beach Post.

AS OTHER EDITORS SEE IT

BETTER MAKE THAT BOY A FARMER

It is not strange that farming shows up as the occupation contributing the least to crime.

First, there's hard work and paying to go around for every person there, on nearly every farm in this country. But besides that, there's plenty of open space to cool off in when anger struts and resentments flare. Constant contact is not so necessary as in towns and cities and friction is so hard to relieve as in homes and occupations where difficult situations are hard to "get out from under."

And life is not lived so fast, Desires for more than-earned pleasures and luxuries are not so consuming because the dawning of their temptation before the eyes is not so constant.

Human nature is the same everywhere and farmers are not by nature better than other people. But the circumstances of their work and living helps them to behave better than many others of us. — Polk County Record.

one of the greatest treats of his life.
And that, according to the Progressive Farmer, is what the boy on the farms all over the country are doing at this time. It remarks:

"Worry finds it hard to reach a man with a fish pole in his hand.
Petty doubts and fretting, care melt away like dew under a morning sun. Your mind sweetened by the nearness of earth, sky and water, troubles and thoughts fly away like those from Pandora's fabled box, and the major portion of the day is spent in the presence of God's treasures touches you magically as once it did those humble fishermen on the Galilean shore."

"In the quiet waters before you may be locked the secrets of immortality. That same water in which your cork lazily bobs, sending encircling waves shoreward may once have swept down the River Jordan or have washed the bodies of pious pilgrims in the sacred Ganges. It might once have been in the clouds that inspired Shelley, or it might have been rain that brought relief and new hope to drought-stricken farmers."

Fishing is a time for meditation, for calm reflection. Problems take on new guises and troubles seem less severe. In the shimmering of hatching water old friends become more endeared and new ones are bound closer. For fishing is a time for quiet communion of kindred spirits.

"Lucky the boy with a fishing pole in his hands, his bare toes in the sand, the divine spark of youth in his soul, and the fire of romance and adventure in his eyes!
He is the spirit to have the world and give; age cannot wither it nor destroy a single precious part of it."

Distress Call Simple
The letters SOS for the distress call were adopted by the International Radiotelegraph conference at London in 1912 because the combination of dots and dashes were so simple that the most impaired radio operator would have little difficulty in detecting it.

200 Floridians Visit Exhibit This Week

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Observance of Florida week has brought more than 200 Floridians to the Great Lakes exposition and the Florida exhibit as determined by registrations in the Florida book kept in Florida Manor.

Today was Agriculture day with L. M. Rhodes of Jacksonville, chief of the Florida state marketing bureau, as guest of honor and speaker at the luncheon served at noon in the main dining room of the horticultural building. Mr. Rhodes explained he was taking the place of Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, who was detained at his Florida home by illness. Lincoln G. Dickey, general manager of the exposition presented Mr. Rhodes with a certificate of merit for his work in Florida and gave him a special medal to be presented Mr. Mayo.

More than 50 officials of automobile clubs and travel bureaus attended the reception given in Florida Manor last night in honor of Gulf Coast Highway day. Mr. Rhodes will remain for an address at a reception which will be given for more than 100 fruit growers and distributors of citrus fruit throughout Ohio.

OVERSEAS ROAD WILL BE BUILT

KEY WEST, Sept. 3.—The overseas road and toll bridge commission announced a contract today with the Public Works Administration for a $3,000,000 loan to complete the 115-mile highway from the Florida mainland to Key West, the southernmost city of the United States.

R. M. Duncan, commission engineer, was authorized to advertise for contractors' bids on the project, specifying the work must begin by November 1. Commission members expect the work to be completed within 15 months from that date.

The project, which will be broken down into nine separate units calls for converting into highway toll bridges a chain of abandoned structures of the Florida East Coast railroad between Lower Matecumbe and Big Pine Keys. The tolls are designed to liquidate the Federal loan.

All of the highway except the 42 miles between the two keys had already been built and is being used by traffic. Ferries have been used to span the water gaps.

A tropical hurricane sweeping across the keys last Labor Day, a year ago yesterday, wrecked the railroad's famous overseas extension, causing the viaducts to be abandoned.

The toll industry dates back to the thirteenth century.

2. Adequate appropriation must be made by the state legislature in 1937, to provide for the continuance on a state-wide basis of payments for Old Age Assistance in addition the legislature will be requested to make adequate appropriation for Aid to Dependent Children, Mother's Aid and Aid to the Blind.

There are many misconceptions about Old Age Assistance and the following is the basis on which assistance will be paid in Florida. In the first place Old Age Assistance, is a relief measure. It is to be paid only to those whose income from all other sources is insufficient to provide food, clothing and shelter. Only those who are over 70 years of age who have resided in the state five out of the nine last years, including one year immediately preceding their application, and who are in need, are eligible. The amount which each eligible person will receive will vary from five to thirty dollars per month, depending upon the individuals need. There will be many who need complete support; there will be many who live in need, are relatives, and who can stay there if they contribute a small amount to make up the deficit in the family budget.

The amount which each person receives will be fixed on the basis of a careful budget of his needs. From the budget will be subtracted any income which the applicant receives, and the balance will be the amount of the monthly assistance grant. Investigations of need and proof of age and residence will be the responsibility of our staff. Each worker or visitor, as we call our workers will be responsible for a certain number of persons and will prepare a record containing all of the information necessary as the basis for a decision. When this information has been reviewed by the district director then the district board will again review each case and place those approved on the list for regular monthly allowance. As changes in need occur, changes will be made in allowance.

AS DEALERS IN THE LAKE OKEECHOBEE REGION FOR ALLIS-CHALMERS TRACTORS

A tractor in itself is nothing more than so much metal. It has no practical value until it starts moving both itself and the equipment attached to it. Its actual value is revealed in its ability to perform useful work at lower cost in a given time, and to maintain this performance day in and day out with fewer breakdowns and "time out" periods for repairs and adjustments.

Allis-Chalmers has established a world-wide reputation as a builder of power producing machinery, in units ranging from 5 to 150,000 horsepower capacity. If all of the Allis-Chalmers power producing equipment ever built were combined into a single gigantic engine, it would develop more than thirty million horsepower!

With this background of experience, it is not difficult to understand the superior performance that has been built into the Model "M" tractor. It has—speed, to accomplish more work per hour—power, to perform the most difficult jobs with ease—control, that simplifies and lightens the operator's work—economy, that results in low operating costs—light weight, no excess poundage to lug around—durability, to withstand the strains imposed by heavy loads, rough ground and long hours.

In the Model "M," Allis-Chalmers offers — not just another tractor — but dependable, outstanding performance.
